1. Alekseyev (fnu) is advisor to Erich Apel, East German Minister for Heavy Machine Construction. Prior to this assignment, Alekseyev was chief advisor to Heinrich Rau, Minister of the former Ministry for Machine Construction, which was dissolved in mid-April 1955. In his new assignment, Alekseyev's responsibilities cover Area I (Industrial Equipment and Foundries) of the Ministry for Heavy Machine Construction.
2. Also attached in an unspecified capacity to the Ministry for Heavy Machine Construction is Dolyansky (fnu), a specialist in machine construction enterprises. He was sent to East Germany for the purpose of investigating the more important of the East German machine construction enterprises. He is at present at VEB J. W. Stalin in Treptow, advising the management on a reorganization of the enterprise according to Soviet principles of profitability. He has carried out this assignment during the last few months. Prior to it, he carried out the same assignment at VEB Bergmann-Borsig in Berlin/Wilhelmsruh. Dolyansky is said to have a great deal of authority vested in him by the Soviets, for the carrying out of his assignments.
